SJABall climaxes Mardi Gras frolic

St. Joseph Carnival Club's 30th annual ball Friday night will wrap up the general Mardi Gras celebration in the Bay-Waveland area this year.

Except for private parties, Fat Tuesday will come and go quietly here this year and the solemn Lenten season will begin Ash Wednesday with special services in many churches of the area.

The traditional Mardi Gras day parades were cancelled by both the Bay St. Louis Elementary Parent Teacher Assn. and the Negro Civic groups which have organized the two events in the past. They explained Carnival came too soon after Christmas this year and there was no time to organize.

St. Joseph's ball promises to be a brilliant one and invitations to the king and queen's party from midnight to 3 a.m. Saturday have stirred considerable speculation as to the identity of their majesties. The ball itself begins at 9 p.m. Friday in the SJA auditorium. Dr. and Mrs. Otto Mollare will be hosts for cocktails for the court and a small group of friends immediately afterwards. Then festivities will move to the monarchs' party at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

While the seating in the auditorium is limited, tickets are still available from Conrad Mauffray, ticket chairman, or from Bobby Anne Bakery, Jerome's, Knack Knack Club, V. Kie's and Fabey's Drug Store in Bay St. Louis, and in Waveland at Brewster's, Bay-Waveland Florist, Waveland Drug Store and Waveland Food Store.

The newly formed Krewe of Nereids staged the gala parade of the season Sunday in Waveland, drawing a crowd estimated at close to 10,000 along its six-mile route.

ROARING TWENTIES - Both the pin, hot red automobiles, and the Charleston were all in vogue in parades portrayed by this float, The Roaring Twenties, in Krewe of Nereids Mardi Gras parade last Sunday in Waveland. Official announcer estimated crowd along route to be 10,000 strong.

To meet building costs

School kitty dry, eye land sale $s

Four thousand dollars, proceeds from the sale of the colored school building, were transferred from the building fund to the school fund at a special meeting of the Hancock County School Board Tuesday.

The move was approved to pay off Roy Anderson, Jr. of Gulfport, contractor for the school at Pearl River and adjacent to the school at North Central.

The school board is $52,150 and only $10,552.02 in the building fund.

To meet the need for a new school building, the school board is planning to build a new school building on the site of the old school building.

at least of this was the one, few dollars were on hand when the building contract was signed. Trustees at that time thought that federal funds, to be made available through the federal government, would amount to $100,000. With the $350,000 bond issue, this would increase the program. But the federal grant was pared to $10,000. They were further disappointed by the fact of well drilling and reclamation at Pearl River and Gulfport and purchase of equipment for the new county location.

Trustees, facing the need for a gymnasium at Pearl River as well as other expansion, anticipated a three stage program authorized by the president, Edward P. Orme. First they will make every effort to pay off their general contractor, then they will complete payment on all other outstanding construction bills. A complete check taking in the third phase and this will begin as soon as all present construction contracts are fulfilled.

In response to a request from their attorney, Walter James Phillips, on the long-term plan at Pearl River, trustees passed three resolutions. The first carried unanimously the other two with the majority of the board.

The second resolution was to build a new school building on the site of the old school building.

Motion No. 1 called for a modification to the county's integration plan as applied to the Charles B. Murphy Elementary School, Pearl River. Grades 1 to 3 are to be completely integrated, grades 4 given complete freedom of choice, and grades 5-8, freedom of choice subject to availability of facilities.

To achieve this variation, motion No. 2 requests mailing freedom of choice letters to parents citing the new guidelines.

Hancock sales of U.S. bonds best in state

Hancock County wound up 1966 on top of the state in percentage of U.S. Savings Bond sales.

The final report for the year shows sales of $190,225. That's 200.79 per cent of the goal assigned Hancock of $79,000. December sales alone amounted to $19,503.

Only one other county—Panola—topped the 200 per cent mark. Its sales were 216.55 per cent of its quota.

Andy J. Bocher, county savings bond chairman, assured all who had any part in the county's achievement that their cooperation is appreciated. He noted that sales with sales of $4,250,000 were the highest in ten years.

Employees in filing their federal income returns, may note tax returns in U.S. Savings Bonds by checking that line on the return. Those who have checked the bonds in 1966 do not have to pay state income tax on interest earned.

Speakers for the event, attended by 75 people, was Capt. Bobby F. Cole, USMC. A veteran of the Vietnam conflict, he told of the history and culture of the people of Vietnam and the role being played by the U.S. military in that country.

Stieffel was chosen for DSA award for his contributions to the community, his exhibition of leadership, personal and business progress, and willingness to cooperate with individuals and civic organizations.

Stieffel judged Bay Jaycee DSA

Herbert L. Stieffel, Bay St. Louis civil defense director, was the recipient of the Joyce Distinguished Service Award at their annual awards banquet Saturday at Horne's Restaurant on U.S. 90.

Robert L. Hamilton of Hancock Bank was presented with the Outstanding Boss of the Year citation.

Judges for the awards were William C. Carter, president, Gulf National Bank; William Scullion, president, Gulf Park College; and Walter Deering, administrator, National Space and Aeronautics Administration.

Other DSA nominees were C. Leo Corcoran, Jr., who made the Outstanding Boss presentation, and Donald J. Luntz, local Jaycee president.

E. J. Marengo was master of ceremonies and Michael D. Hane, last year's winner, made the Distinguished Service award.

Speakers for the event, attended by 75 people, was Capt. Bobby F. Cole, USMC. A veteran of the Vietnam conflict, he told of the history and culture of the people of Vietnam and the role being played by the U.S. military in that country.

Stieffel was chosen for DSA award for his contributions to the community, his exhibition of leadership, personal and business progress, and willingness to cooperate with individuals and civic organizations.

After telling of the work he put in during Hurricane Betsy and with his being credited for saving the life of Michael Halk, last December through his knowledge of first aid, his six point commendation went on to say:

As head of the civil defense, Stieffel has conducted and led many rescue missions. His unit recently conducted a four week course in advanced first aid after which 42 certificates of completion were awarded. He

Washington informed of Bay street work

"It seems your community to be being paralyzed for showing private initiative," an official of the Economic Development Administration told the Bay St. Louis delegation which went to Washington, D. C., Monday in search of aid for its sewer-water torn streets.

He noted that whereas other municipalities had waited for grants before undertaking major improvements, Bay St. Louis had gone on its own. The delegation cited to the various federal officials they saw that the city had been asked to build better schools and floated a $1 million bond issue for that. When the sewer and water program came along, they voted a $3 million issue for it.

Making the trip were City Commissioner of Utilities J. Cyril Glover, H.H. Shattuck, manager of Coast Electric Power Assn., and Leo W. Seal, Jr., president of Hancock Bank.

They had interviews with the Department of Housing and Urban Development, the Economic Development Administration, Public Health Service and National Aeronautics and Space Administration as well as 5th District Congressman William M. Colmer and Senators John D. Stennis and James O. Eastland.

Shattuck reported yesterday on his return, "We acquainted a lot of people with our problems and they are all sympathetic." A good bit of paper work lies ahead for the city to present an application for assistance.

Meanwhile Mayor John A. Scalford and efforts to get the base on Central Avenue are being pushed with the good weather. The asphalt coat will be applied next week to give Bay St. Louis a connection also to Third Street to the line. This work is being done in cooperation with the county. Its portable asphalt plant.

Completion of the sewer job came another step closer this week when the central portion of the city—between U.S. 90 and the railroad tracks—was accepted for household connection.

2nd S-II due MTF mid Feb.

The second flight ready second stage Saturn V booster rocket component, S-II-2, to be acceptance tested at Mississippi Test Facility has been shipped from California on board the Polar Harrow and should arrive here by Feb. 11.

Static firing of the component is set for the latter part of March and a minimum of two six-minute full duration shoots will be conducted prior to the component receiving its airworthy certificate.

Due to be placed on the stand about one week after arrival it should be ready for moving to Cape Kennedy sometime in April.

The first S-II component earmarked for flight acceptance testing in the S-II A-1 test stand, the S-II-3, will arrive on site about mid-May. The S-II-4 being due either later the same month or the first part of June.

The test operational capabilities of S-I-C stand, the S-I-C-4, now at MTF, will be fired in the middle of this month. The S-I-C-4 is the Saturn V rocket's first stage booster.

After proving stand capabilities the test version will be replaced by the S-I-C-4, now awaiting shipment at Michoud. The S-II-4 is the first flight ready version of the S-I-C to be sent to MTF after acceptance firing. The next, the S-I-C-5, is now in advanced stages of assembly at the Michoud plant.

Carl's Studio, featuring photography and music, has been opened by Carl Gustafson, Jr., at 394 Washington St.

The Sea Coast is to open this weekend on the south service drive of U.S. 90 west to Gulf National Bank. Mrs. Richard Haddon is proprietor of the women's sportswear shop.

UNITED FUND LEADERS - Chairman of Hancock County United Fund, elected by board of directors Friday, Mrs. C. L. Byers, secretary, Charles A. Rasmussen, Jr., president, and James L. Ginn, vice president, Pauline Thompson, treasurer, and others.

CHANCERY COURT - The Hancock County Chancery Court, presided by Judge J. B. Byers, held its regular session in the county courthouse Tuesday. The court heard and decided several cases, including a divorce case and a case involving a will. The court also heard a case involving a dispute over land. The court's decisions were announced at the end of the session.

who showed up for the hearing. E.M. Rowley, president of the R & W. Rowley Beachfront Assn., said his organization believed the zoning ordinance was long over due and certain ly needed. His only concern was with Sec. 15 on, which provides they should maintain the shore seaward only.

J. Ruble, Griffin attorney for the supervisors, explained that the preliminary ordinance to allow heavy machinery for maintenance to get through or overpass be permitted on in Harrison County.

Rowley and Wallis asked that the ordinance be based from 18 to 20 feet from the beach to allow heavy machinery for maintenance to get through or overpass be permitted on in Harrison County.

Brooks said the plan to building new area at least 60 feet back. He asked the county to look into getting a lot of the old piers removed within the Corps of Engineers had no con tractor willing up the sand berm construction.

A movable rubber was suggested as one means of getting from the beach to the pier and avoiding the summer sand on children's feet. Both beach owners urged the supervisors to see that the berm is properly maintained as agreed with the Corps of Engineers.

Speakers were W.W. Webb, Chamber of Commerce president, and Adm. Ed Boyer, USN-ret., who has been working on hurricane protection plans for the county.

Star students named in two high schools

Glenda Marie Singleton of St. Rosa de Lima High School and Annie Beatrice Fields of Valena C. Jones School have been selected as their school's Star students. Choice was based on high scholastic ave age for the first semester, and high score on the American College Test.

Designated as star teachers were Sister Mariangelica and Mrs. Bernadette Benjamin of St. Rosa de Lima and Valena C. Jones respectively. Both the Star students were asked to designate a teacher who, in their opinion, made the greatest contribution to their scholastic achievement.

Sponsored by the Missis sippi Economic Council the Star program is designed to empha size the importance of scholastic achievement, and to encour age greater effort in this direc tion by Mississippi students, and to honor the teaching profes sion.

Winners in each school will be presented with framed cer tificates at special school as sembles in March.

Miss Singleton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Singleton of 539 Easterbrook Street. She was chosen by her school as a National Achieve ment Finalist, was elected by the student body as the All Catholic Girl for 1966 and received a Science Foundation last year.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Fields of 348 Keller Street, Miss Fields has captured scholastic awards in English, history and typing and is her school's National Honor So ciety. Winner of the Betty Crocker Homemaker Award she has been an honor roll student.

PROCLAMATION

MAKDI GRAS DAY

SINCE Mardi Gras Day is the eve of the Lenten Season and has been observed for many years in this section of our land, and

SINCE our people are entitled to recreation and recess for at least one day from their worldly cares, it is fitting at this time that we observe Mardi Gras by taking part in the festivities and pleasures of the day; and so in consideration of the custom,

THEREFORE be it proclaimed that I, John A. Scafile, Mayor of the City of Bay St. Louis, do hereby proclaim that

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1967 be a holiday in Bay St. Louis and that it be enjoyed fully in the sense intended.

WITNESS My signature and official seal of the City of Bay St. Louis, this 30th day of January, A. D. 1967.

Tigerettes begin royal reign

This year's high school basketball season, the Tigerettes began their reign of terror by defeating the Long Beach, 52-43, and the Tigertones, 28-25, Saturday evening in the finals of the annual conference tournament played this year in the Perkins Union Junior College gymnasium.

Most amazing of all for the first time this season, Mike (Co-Co) Necaise was not the high scorer for Bay High. Although he was the most valuable player award, Necaise was second in scoring with 16 points. Proving what coach Wimpy Seymour has contended all along, that it was a team effort.

High scorer was Mike Lamm with 19. Don Freeman got 15, Anthony Lamm, 8, and Freddie (Bombay) Cleveland, 2. It was evident that Necaise was a 40 plus average despite the opposition's defense, and not up to his usual form. So, after missing several shots he concentrated on rebounding and feeding the ball to other shooters.

The Tigerettes and Tigertones carried home a combined of trophies in addition to their win-

Coach Billy Sills received the girls' coach of the year trophy. Sills, with a roster of 10 sophomores, six juniors and no seniors, has developed a team spirit that has placed them in the top slot in the conference.

Sherry Dean was named the most valuable guard and Ann Perkins made the all-conference team. From Hancock North Central, Glenda Poy and Kathy Lamm also made the team. Jeany Lamm of Poos Christian was named the most valuable forward.

In addition to Necaise, who was the unanimous choice for most valuable player, Don Freeman and Freddie Cleveland were all-conference players. In the boys' game, the 100 changed hands four times in the first quarter but a three point lead by Necaise gave the Tigerettes one point advantage at the end of the first quarter and they were never headed.

Quarter scores:
BH 32 19 11 5 51
LB 18 10 14 10 52
The Tigerettes' points were made after Poos Christian had beaten them in the first round of the playoffs. Bay High, 3-0, 12-7 and 21-20.

But the lead had three times until in the final frame Ann Perkins connected with a hook shot to put the Tigerettes ahead, 27-26, and it was Bay High from then on. Perkins plunked in 18 points and Nancy McDonald, 8.

In earlier boys' games, Hancock North Central fell victim to a 57-53 upset by Pearl River Central, Wednesday, Thursday, Bay High beat PRC, 60-37, with Necaise romping to 42 points, and Friday it was the Tigerettes, 47, Poos Christian, 30, Co-Co accounting for 33 points.

First action in the girls' bracket was between arch-rivals Bay High and North Central. (Cont. on Page 8-B.)

As others see The Kennedy School

What would happen if a right-wing group openly supported a potential Presidential candidate at a world forum of scholars to a private university, established as "Institute of Politics" there, and staff it with right-wing professors, members and fellows who have had Government service?

Would there be an awful howl and cry that somebody was setting up the nucleus for an eventual right-wing takeover of the Government?

That is exactly what has happened at Harvard University—where the important difference: the group and the potential Presidential candidate are left-wing and the most Socialist here.

The story was first reported by Henry Fairlie, a correspondent for the London "Sunday Telegraph." Significantly, no American newspaper made much of the Harvard affair.

After Mr. Fairlie's story was published on January 15, 1966, American newspapers called attention to it and columnist William F. Buckley commented on it in a column published on this page Monday. In addition, this week's U.S. News and World Report reprinted the Fairlie article along with a rebuttal written by Don K. Price, dean of the John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard.

Dean Price denials the Fairlie story and says there is nothing so Marxist about the situation; that, in fact, everything is perfectly genuine, aboveboard, and innocent.

Argument from a legal standpoint is a bit plausible or innocent, it certainly is not. Millions of dollars are involved, and what amounts to a new school has been established at Harvard, and staffed with former Government officials of the most left-wing variety, all of them supporters of Robert F. Kennedy.

Finally, these are the facts which in amount of explanation are meagre:

The Kennedy Library Corporation—set up to administer the funds donated for a memorial to John F. Kennedy—agreed to donate $1.5 million to Harvard University's Graduate School of Administration. Fairlie says he has seen the letter from the Library Corporation asking that the memorial be named the John F. Kennedy School of Government. Dean Price says that Harvard President Nathan Pusey made the offer. Anyway, the school was renamed after President Kennedy.

2. An "Institute of Politics" established and staffed by John F. Kennedy School of Government. Whereas the school was given $1.5 million, the new Institute was given $1.5 million. Also, the stipulation was that the school be named "Institute of Politics" and staffed by right-wing professors, members and fellows who have had Government service.

3. Whether by design or by accident, the "Institute of Politics" was established in the Kennedy School of Government, and the Kennedy School of Government was established in the Kennedy School of Government.

4. The Kennedy School of Government was established in the Kennedy School of Government, and the Kennedy School of Government was established in the Kennedy School of Government.

5. The Kennedy School of Government was established in the Kennedy School of Government, and the Kennedy School of Government was established in the Kennedy School of Government.

6. The Kennedy School of Government was established in the Kennedy School of Government, and the Kennedy School of Government was established in the Kennedy School of Government.

7. The Kennedy School of Government was established in the Kennedy School of Government, and the Kennedy School of Government was established in the Kennedy School of Government.

8. The Kennedy School of Government was established in the Kennedy School of Government, and the Kennedy School of Government was established in the Kennedy School of Government.

9. The Kennedy School of Government was established in the Kennedy School of Government, and the Kennedy School of Government was established in the Kennedy School of Government.

Back to earth

So much for a really exciting Saturday, now on to other bits.

As so many have voiced interest in opening their home to foreign pilot trainees, some scheduled to arrive at Keesler Field, Andre Arceneaux, original operator of the program. This will let him know on your welcome message and schedule you with all details. He lives at 129 Young Blvd., Universal City, Tex.

Mrs. J.P. Mullen of East Hampton, Mass. chose a good time to arrive here for a visit, "until spring", with her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Blair Johnson. Weather reports from her home state could pretty fright.

Mrs. and Gerald Favre are very much the proud grandparents again, but youngest son, Jimmy, is a bit put out because the new arrival won't spend time with him. The young wife, Jody, arrived at Spaulding Memorial Hospital, Ft. Smith, Ark. at 8:15 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 24, weighing in at a hefty 140 pounds, also came, it is the second son of Gerald, Jr., and wife, and was born at the hospital where his parents are employed. His mother is an R.N. and father, an x-ray technician.

SEVENTH AND SOUND A-ALONG THE WAY - The big black silhouette of giant L. H. N. pils driver on it daily about our side of the shore. That, like and piece of colorful paper all that remains of Sunday's parade glory. It's a reminder, ignoring the January chill as they merrily go about their work (singing and the crowd of music, gas, but not forgetting the carter's which march before, because and their the spectacular show of Keesler.

... Hancock Is Still A Friendly Old-Fashioned Bank!

We're proud of our new electronic equipment. And, justly so, because it is the finest available.

But, at Hancock Bank, machines are only secondary. It is the 240 men and women here that make this bank one of the truly great banks of the South.

No matter how large we get, we will always maintain the warm, friendly feeling that has been a Hancock tradition since 1830. As in past years we have set aside one month — January, as Appreciation Month. But every day in the year we are grateful for our friends and neighbors who are the greatest assets any bank can have.

Stop in anytime. We'll be delighted to see you.
